All consortium members and European Commission	One electronic copy available on the restricted area of the CROCK webportal

Objectives

A public web site has been established within the project (www.crockproject.eu).

It has two parts: one open to the broad community and one restricted to the members of the consortium and the EC services.

The open part gives the opportunity to the consortium to disseminate some of the project's results and to make the project known by possible end-users and stakeholders. All deliverables declared public will be also available on this public part.

The restricted access is an internal webspace "intranet" The intranet will serve as a tool for internal project communication and information exchange among the partners (see Figure 1).
